BEST PENN CONDUCTOR IS KILLED WHEN TROLLEY POLE STRIKES CITY LIGHT WIRE

H. Ackerman Grasps Broken Strand to Remove It and Is Electrocuted.

ISHAP NEAR CAR BARN

It is believed to have been insufficiently fastened to catch and slip loose; Victim Substituting For Another, Taking Car to Barn.

J. H. Ackerman, 10 years old, a Pittsburgh boy, was electrocuted at 1:15 o'clock this morning while taking a trolley car to the West Side, when he came in contact with a city lighting wire under a trolley of the Western Maryland road in Leisnering avenue, close to a barn.

The conductor, who has been in the trolley for the company for four years, is on a main line run, but he had lived Motorman R. R. Brooks at a station here, as his residence is on the West Side and Brooks lives on Piquette.

George Shumaker, acting as dispatcher, rode as far as the junction of the car where it got off. He saw the car stop at a station under the trolley and seeing it trouble started toward it, but he reached the scene before Ackerman had met his death.

The front trolley pole of the car, which had probably been insecurely re-attached, slipped from the track and caught in the steel beams of the trolley. A light fastened under the car, fell from the city lighting wire, was smashed and the wire broken.

Alighting from the car, Ackerman grasped the broken wire, and the trolley pole, which was hanging down and knowing that it might be charged he secured a pair of gloves. He grasped the wire, with the intention of removing it. It is thought, and was instantly killed.

The lights being even much higher than that used in the other wires. He was dead when humaker reached him.

Mr. Ackerman was well known in Pittsburgh circles. He had been a resident of this city for 11 years, moving here from Meyersdale. He was a member of the American Order of United American Mechanics. He was survived by his widow and five children. They are Mrs. Robert Ackerman, Meyersdale; Mrs. Bart Ackerman, of this city; and Margaret, Edna and Edward, all at home.

His parents, Mr. and Mrs. Dennis Ackerman, of Meyersdale, also survive.

The body was removed to the funeral parlors of J. E. Sims and prepared for burial. It was taken to his home in Greenwood this afternoon.

Short funeral services will be held at the Greenwood home on Thursday evening at 7:30 o'clock. The body will be taken to Meyersdale Friday morning, where services will be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. G. H.
Kessler, a sister and brother-in-law.
Burial will be made at that place.

Thompson Writes Ruled as Void by Federal Court

By Associated Press.

PITTSBURGH, Feb. 9.—Writs of sequestration on judgments against Joseph V.
Thompson, bankrupt and general companies which have been taken over property formerly owned by Thompson, were declared unauthorized and issued without consent of the court, according to a decree in federal court yesterday by Judge Orr, which brings to an end attempts of creditors who secured such writs to reopen the judgments in question.

The decree directs that the writs on judgments entered against Thompson, in which the trustees in bankruptcy and creditors who originally sought relief in the petition, are named as creditors, are, as to the bankrupt, trustees and companies unauthorized and issued without judicial consent.
The decree of the writs, Judge Orr holds, was also contrary to the acts of Congress relating to the bankruptcy law. The orders and decrees of the court in the case are held void and of no effect.

The decree further directs plaintiffs, in the judgments entered in Fayette, Greene and Washington counties, or in any other county in the state, against Thompson, to discontinue all writs of sequestration to revive or confirm the lien of the judgment or judgments.

COUNTERFEIT PLANT RAIDED; THOUSANDS OF LIQUOR STAMPS FOUND

Liquor Found in Bottles, Chief Says.
Shows Adulteration Sufficiently Poisonous to Kill.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—A raid on five men in Philadelphia in a raid upon a printing shop where alleged counterfeit internal revenue liquor stamps were being produced was announced today by Chief Moran of the Secret Service. The shop raided was that of Henry Gallella, of 208 North Third street, Philadelphia, and Chief Moran said about 100,000 stamp sheets as well as liquor labels and plates were seized. Besides Gallella, whose address was Carl Weiss and Harry Milman, alleged to be distributors of the stamps, and two printers employed at Gallella's shop.

Chief Moran said Weiss had 60,000 stamp sheets ready for distribution. Recent raids by secret service agents have disclosed liquor bearing internal revenue stamps so cleverly counter-feited that the bottles could not be told from those regularly withdrawn from bond except on the closest examination. Analysis of some of the liquor contained in these bottles showed the contents were adulterated sufficiently to kill.

UNION MEN UNDER BAN

Middletown Plant.

By Associated Press.

WILMINGTON, W. Va., Feb. 9.— Determination of the state to settle for all time whether union men are to find places on the job which is to try the 21 men accused in the Middletown shooting cases was impressed on every one in court this morning.

Instead of proceeding at once with the task of selecting the jury, the court for the state began calling witnesses in support of its motion that all union men be stricken from the panel.

Those who have followed the case have been able to place but two in this class. With the exception of the defendant and the opposing counsel less than 20 persons were present when court opened. Judge Bailey listened with closest attention to the examination of the witnesses as they were called.

PRESIDENTIAL ELECTORAL VOTE IS CANVASSED

Harding and Coolidge Formally Declared Choice as Government Heads.

TIME - HONORED CUSTOM

Ceremony Taken Place in House of Representatives in Washington With Vice-President Marshall Presiding; Friends Crowd the Galleries.

By Associated Press.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 9.—Warren G. Harding of Ohio and Calvin Coolidge of Massachusetts were formally declared today by Congress to be elected President and Vice President of the United States for four years begunning next March 4.

Thus was written the final chapter in the history of the 1920 presidential election. The scene was laid in the chamber of the House of Representatives with Vice-President Marshall presiding. The occasion was the canvassing of the electoral votes cast by the electors chosen on November 2, 401 for the Republican candidates and 127 for the Democratic candidates.
Former Governor James M. Cox of Ohio and Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York.

The recording of the votes was attended by all the formally and solemnly prescribed by the constitution and there on only were present the members of the Senate and House, but many relatives and friends of the successful candidates.

Two highly polished mahogany boxes, inlaid with rosewood and hollywood, were dumbly borne in this day of democratic government. Resting on the Vice-President's desk, they contained the official ballots of the electors of the 48 states. In alphabetical order, beginning with Alabama, the returning in large envelopes bearing with seals, were opened by the Vice-President, and the electors' names and household names, one Republican and one Democratic representing each body, and read to the assembly and recorded.

At the conclusion of the announcements and tally, Vice-President Marshall declared formally that Mr.
Harding had been chosen President and Mr. Coolidge, Vice-President in official language that the announcement should be deemed a sufficient notification of the persons elected President and Vice-President of the United States, and for a term beginning March 4, 1921.

The joint session was opened by resolution of both Senate and House.
At 1 o'clock, and by two Senate pages carrying the ballot boxes, the Senate following the Vice-President and accompanying by its sergeant-at-arms, senators and other officials, proceeded to the House chamber, where they were announced with ceremony, their House membership being as the senatorial party entered. As prescribed by law, the Vice-President presided over the session, with Speaker Gillett seated at his left and the senators at the right of the chamber.

The votes canvassed today were cast last January 10 by the electors meeting in their respective states and have since been arriving almost daily at the Vice-President's office. Duplicate returns also have been sent by mail and the law requires that a third set be filed with the federal district court of each state. Among the personal messengers who brought the ballots to Washington were women serving as such for the first time in the nation's history.

CITIZENS READY TO ABANDON FIGHT AGAINST MINE FIRE

Not Possible to Continue Without Aid of State, View They Take.

COST ESTIMATE $100,000

Raising This Sum to Curb Menace Between City and Poplar Grove Out-of Question, Say Those Who Have Already Expended Considerable Sum.

By Associated Press.

If no aid can be secured from the state to combat the mine fire at Poplar Grove, property holders in the path of it will cease their efforts. This statement was made today by a committee of the locality who have been working to stop the fire. It is all theoretically to do, he said, but the news has come that the state has no authority for the expenditure of the sum of money that would be required to cut off the fire.

Estimates of the cost of a trench extending through the mine fire at Poplar Grove, property holders in the

to cut off the fire.

Residents of Uniontown find some satisfaction in the belief that it will be many years before the fire actually reaches them, even though the fire is now carried into their homes when the wind blows from the direction of the burning area. One whose home is to the west of the fire, was told today, "I think, when it will not be in his life, the fire will reach his residence."

There is a theory that lack of an aid to progress across the fire may change the course of the fire, and it is to follow a line of the fire, in which it will be the fire, in which

A GOOD CITIZENSHIP
PROGRAM

In his address to the Junior Order of United American Mechanics Rev.
Scott outlined a somewhat diversified but withal a truly constructive program, one that this organization and others having the development of good citizenship as a cardinal principle can follow to the advantage of the membership and the community as well.

Getting behind the movement to establish a general hospital in Connelville, which has been dormant ever since it was rather enthusiastically launched three years ago, is an activity worthy of the cooperation and support of every useful agency. As Rev. Scott pointed out, Connelville should have "that kind of a hospital that would improve the souls of folks who of necessity must go into it, the kind of which would be healing to its patients as they come and go; that kind of a hospital which is a necessity here."

Next, Rev. Scott would have "our community-loving citizens" build a new kind of government, a government of which we may be proud; so that every individual outside of the city would want to move into the city; that kind of a government which in the days to come will have a new council of bold, keen-minded citizens and supported by a mayor with keen intellect and a big heart with a constructive vision ahead of him.

Resolving the duties of the particular obligations resting upon the membership of their organization, in claiming to stand for the observance of American laws and preservation of its institutions, he brought forcibly to their attention the need for men "who will not be afraid of the job and who will stand by the principles of our country until they are carried out. You stand for the American flag to grace every school house in the country but underneath this flag there are those in this country who would not stand with it and God is asking for men who will see this flag maintained."

Considering altogether this is a program that should challenge every loyal and patriotic citizen to their best endeavors to be diligent and faithful as well as fearless in the discharge of their duties and at all times active in behalf of all those things tending to make Connelville a better city and America a better nation in which to live.

It is a rather sad commentary on the ethics of modern sporting events when legislators regard it as necessary to enact laws providing penalties for participants in athletic contests, accepting bribes to "throw" games to their opponents, when they themselves are supposed to be striving to their utmost to win. But unfortunately all kinds of people get into sports, as well as into other things, and one crooked contestant in a game is too many. If he can be eliminated by the enactment of a law protecting the clean and honest participants the patrons of sports will offer no objection to the penalties provided, no matter how severe.

It is announced that the closing of the Mount Pleasant road to Poplar Cove is but temporary. Perhaps this notice is meant to caution the people in that section to the condition that will prevail after the mine fire has done its work.

Why not amend the proposed law for the protection of honest sports so as to include protection from riotous assaults of teams which visit Uniontown and defeat the local teams through better playing?

The forthcoming demonstrations of dental hygiene in the schools ought to serve the additional purpose of causing some parents to brush up a little.

THE SOISSON.

"LIVING LIPS"—A big drama harring House Peters, Florence Vidor and other well-known stars, is being presented today. Nance Abbott, whose English lineage may be traced to William the Conqueror, is betrothed to William Chase, a wealthy Londoner, twice her age, who has succumbed to her striking beauty. Feeling that she must rest before marrying Chase, whom she does not love, Nance visits relatives in Canada. There she meets Blair Cornwall, a young colonist who is struggling to place his homestead estate on a paying basis. Cornwall immediately falls in love with her and Nance, untroubled by English convention, comes to the very verge of loving him. However, she is appalled by the thought of living without the luxuries to which she has been accustomed, and prepares to return to England and marry Chase. Cornwall, determined to make her his wife, sails on the same ship as a steerage passenger. The ship strikes a dorell mine, and is torn in half. Cornwall and Nance alone remain on a section of the stern which is kept afloat by water-tight bulkheads. With death expected momentarily, the girl throws off the shackles of conventionality and forgets to fall to the passions which arouse her. See the thrilling climax of this big picture.

Thursday, Friday and Saturday Hobart Bosworth will be featured in "A Thousand and One."

THE PARAMOUNT.

"BIG HAPPINESS"—An impressive drama in which Dustin Farnum achieves new honors, is being shown today and will also be the feature attraction tomorrow.

"Big Happiness" is a gripping story of twin brothers, one a heartless man of the world, whose one desire is wealth; the other a less successful fellow who dwells in the slums of Paris, but possesses a happy nature and a heart of gold. By a strange trick of fate the "poor but honest" brother is called upon to impersonate the other, a leading British financier, during his absence from Britain. The story interest is further enhanced by the fact that the wealthy brother had just married a beautiful girl who did not love him, but married him because of the financial conditions of her family. Gradually, however, she learns to love the masquerader, because of his gentleness and kindness. Her love is returned, but owing to the peculiar situation, her make-believe husband cannot tell her of his affection. The climax of the story, when the financier, who was supposed to have drowned at sea, suddenly appears, makes this story one of tremendous dramatic appeal. The supporting cast in this picture is exceptionally good, containing such names as Kathryn Adams, popular leading lady of the screen.

THE ORPHEUM.

"FOOD FOR SCANDAL"—Based on the play "Deceit's Delusion," presented Wanda Hawley in the leading role, is today's feature attraction.
Sylvia Plessner is entirely different from the fadish Miss Hobbs. She is the orphan daughter of a false-hearted New England girl and a dashing young Spanish-American who has been in an attempt to regain the shattered finances of the once wealthy Daniel Figueras ranch in Southern California, who joins the chorus of the "Vanities" in San Francisco. An enterprising press agent blurs her as the "Kissing Girl," which causes her to give up her job but starts a remarkable chain of complications. "The story allows Miss Hawley a wonderful assortment of clothes to display her blonde prettiness. Whether it be as the high-caste Spanish girl or a "chorus lady," she has all things very "easy to look at." The plot is well-balanced and allows the star many dramatic moments which she handles in a convincing manner. Needless to say, her comely opportunities are seized with the irresistible dexterity which has been responsible for Miss Hawley's remarkably swift rise in the film world. Renart has again surrounded the comedienne with a truly remarkable cast. Harrison Ford, most popular of leading men, repeats his success in "Miss Hobbs." Ethel Grey Terry and Margaret McWade are internationally known supporting people. Others in the cast include Lester Cuneo, Minnie Prevost, Juan de la Cruz and Sidney Bruce. Tomorrow Eileen Percy will be seen in "The Land of Jazz."

THE ARCADE.

Eileen Sedgwick, starring in the Universal serial, "The Diamond Queen," which begins at the Arcade today, has been on the stage ever since she was a child. Both her parents are popular players; so is her brother, Ed; likewise her sister, Josie.
Traveling as an independent theatrical company, the Sedgwick family became famous throughout the South and West. Miss Sedgwick's first important work before the camera was at the age of 14, in a Universal picture, "The Isle of Life," which was made in Mexico. She was so appealing in the role that her screen career was assured and she continued in Universal and productions. Her work in support of Eddie Polo in his first romance of the big top, "The Love of the Circus," was characterized by skill and daring and by a dramatic quality seldom met with in film serial production. She later appeared in such thrilling creations as "Clara and Benet," "Dropped from the Clouds," "The Trail of No Return," "Number 10 Westbound," and others. She scored a tremendous success in "The Great Ragtime Mystery," in which she was re-starred, and her triumph in this serial won her the starring role in the latest Universal chaptered romance, "The Diamond Queen," based on "The Diamond Master," by Jacques Frelle, and directed by Edward G. Robinson.

Senreco
The
double-service tooth paste, keeps teeth clean AND GUMS HEALTHY.

Keeping the gums healthy and the mouth sweet is very important to health; more teeth are lost through the loosening of the tissue that holds the teeth in place than from decay.

Dental science to-day demands that a tooth paste must keep the gums healthy as well as clean the teeth.

Senreco was formulated to meet this requirement. Hundreds of dentists are prescribing and using Senreco because they have found that it does measure up to that standard.

SENRECO IS A WONDERFUL CLEANSER.

In addition to its remedial properties Senreco is a wonderful cleanser; acts directly on the mucin film, the basis of tartar; leaves the mouth cool and clean-feeling. As some one has expressed it—Senreco gives one a new idea on cleanliness.

Get a tube to-day at your druggist or toilet counter—enjoy the healthy, cleanly feeling it gives your mouth and gums. Notice how brilliantly white Senreco makes your teeth. It performs this two-fold service for you and yet costs no more than the ordinary, old-fashioned tooth paste that simply cleans the teeth and leaves a pleasant taste.

ACIDS IN STOMACH CAUSE INDIGESTION

Excess Gas, Sourness and Pain How to Treat.

Medical authorities state that acid indigestion, or the excess of stomach acids, causes sourness, burning, gas, bloating, nausea, etc., are due to an excess of hydrochloric acid in the stomach and not, as some believe, to a lack of digestive juices. The delicate stomach lining is irritated, digestion is delayed and food sour, causing the disagreeable symptoms which every stomach sufferer knows so well.

Artificial digestants are not needed in such cases and may do real harm by laying aside all digestive acids and instead get from any drug that a few ounces of Bismuth Magnesia and take a teaspoonful in a quarter glass of water right after meals. This sweetens the stomach, prevents the formation of excess acid and there is no sourness, gas or pain. Bismuth Magnesia (in powder or tablet form—never liquid or milk) is harmless to the stomach. Inexpensive to take and is the most effective form of treatment for stomach purposes. It is used by thousands of people who enjoy their meals with no more fear of indigestion.

Dunbar.

DUNBAR, Feb. 8.—A successful revival meeting is being conducted at the Methodist Protestant church here by the pastor, Rev. O. W. Bolton, and quite an interest is already manifesting itself. In addition to splendid sermons, special music adds to the interest. All the Protestant churches of this town are co-operating in the work. Preliminary services begin at 7:30 and preaching at 8 o'clock.

Mrs. Margaret Thorpe McNair is seriously ill at her home at Keffers. Mrs. R. A. Rodkey of Railroad street has taken the position of primary teacher at the Youngtown school.

Herbert "Mike" Baker is having a handsome porch erected, adding much to the appearance of his bungalow on Ferguson road, near Pechin.

David S. Leaphine, who underwent an operation for appendicitis at the Cottage State hospital three weeks ago, has sufficiently recovered his strength to resume his duties with the West Penn. this week.

Mrs. Margaret Senor of Ferguson road was given a birthday surprise by about 50 of her friends at the Senor mansion last Thursday evening. The event was the occasion of her 16th anniversary. She was the recipient of a large number of presents.

Bluebirds made their appearance at The Maples January 23. The cold week following kept them out of sight until the 24th, when they came around again singing and have been in evidence every day since. No other spring or migratory birds have yet made their appearance.

Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Hardy now occupy their recently purchased residence at Pechin.

S. H. Gillespie of Pechin, having purchased a lot of Rhode Island reds, is preparing to branch out in the poultry business.

"HOW WELL YOU LOOK"

When Your Blood is Rich and Red People Notice Your Good Health.

PEPTO-MANGAN BUILDS HEALTH

Pale Face, Bull Eyes, Drooping Shoulders, Result from Clogged Blood.

If your blood is in bad shape it shows up in your looks and feeling. When your blood is rich with red corpuscles your color is better—your lips are red, eyes wide open and bright; your good feeling shows in your actions.

Common sense will tell you that if weak, thin blood makes you look lifeless, it lowers your vitality. If your vitality is low, you have little power to resist disease germs. Men, women and children with rich, red blood are able to fight off the germs which bring severe illness.

When you feel run down and weak, with no appetite and no ambition, take Pepto-Mangan for awhile. It is a great blood building tonic. You should begin to feel better within a few days.

Pepto-Mangan is put up in both liquid and tablet form. Take either line you prefer because they have the same medicinal value. But be sure you get the genuine Pepto-Mangan—"Gude's." The full name, "Gude's Pepto-Mangan," should be on the package—Adv.

Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Baxter of Connellsville were the guests of Mrs. Richard Shaw last evening.

James Gillespie of McKees Rocks spent Sunday here with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Gillespie.

The Voice of the Pack

By EDISON MARSHALL

(Copyright, 1920, Little, Brown & Company)

She was wholly unable to gain on the fire. Only by dint of the most heart-breaking toil was she able to secure any dry fuel for it at all. Every length of wood she cut had to be scraped of bark and half the time the fire was only a sickly column of white smoke. It became increasingly difficult to swing the ax. The trail was almost at its end.

The after-midnight hours drew one by one across the face of the wilderness, and she thought that the deepening cold presaged dawn. Her fingers were numb.

Once more she went to one of the saplings, but she stumbled and almost went to her face at the first blow. It was the instant that her gray watch was had been waiting for. The wolf that stood nearest leaped—a gray streak out of the shadow—and every wolf in the pack shot forward with a yell. It was a short, expectant cry, but it chopped off short for with a half-cry and a gasp, as if without mental process she aimed her pistol and fired.

A fast-leaping wolf is one of the most difficult pistol targets that can be imagined. It bordered on the miraculous that she did not miss him altogether. Her nerves were tense, their control over her muscles largely gone. Yet the bullet coursed down through the lungs inflicting a mortal wound.

The wolf had leaped for her throat, but he fell short. She staggered from a blow and she heard a curious sound in the region of her hip. But she did not know that the fangs had gone home in her soft flesh. The wolf rolled on the ground and if her pistol had possessed the shocking power of a rifle he would have never got up again. As it was he shivered once, then sped off in the darkness to live or die of the nearest wolves catching the smell of his blood-bared and sped after him.

But the remainder of the great pack—fifty of the gray gaunt creatures—came stalking across the snow to wind her. White fangs had gone home, and a new madness was in the air.

Striding into the silence a perfect straight line between Cranston's and Snowbird's Dan falling and nudging across the snow. His sense of direction had never been obliterated by such a test as this before. Snowbird's fire was a single dot on a vast plain, yet he had gone straight toward it.

He was risking everything for the sake of speed. He gave no heed to the fallen timber that might have torn the web of his snow shoes to shreds. Because he shut out all thought of it he had no feeling of fatigue. The fight with Cranston had been a frightful strain on muscle and nerve, but he quickly remembered it now. His whole purpose was to return to Snowbird before the wolves lost the first of their cowardice.

The looked on him that he had a muffled but brought him back much of his strength. He was wholly unconscious of his heavy pack. Never did he stop so swiftly so softly with such noise as step and he was not half as tired as he felt. A perfect expression of the man's control that his wolf had had over his muscles.

Then, through the silence he heard the sound of the pack as the wolf had leaped at Snowbird. He knew what it meant. The wolves were attacking him and a great flood of black hating hate fell over him at the thought of it. He had all been in vain and before the thought could fully go home he heard the din of a pack of a pistol.

Was that the first of the three shots, the one she might expect on the wolves or had the first two already been spent and was she taking the last view of the scene? The lips even now Cranston was lying still on the sled, and she was standing before the ruin of his life, praying that her soul might have wings. It showed with all the power of his lungs across the snow.

But Snowbird only heard the soft slide of the wolves in the snow. The wind was blowing toward him and while he had heard the faint chorus of the pack, one of the most fur-carrying cries and the penetrating crack of a pistol. He could not hear his answering shot. In fact, the wilderness seemed preternaturally still. All was breathless, heavy with suspense and she stood just as Dan had thought, he was the ruin of her life and the sled and she looked with straight eyes to the oncoming wolves.

There, Snowbird, Lennox was whispering. Give me the pistol—for that has work. We have only a moment more.

He looked very calm and brave, half used as he was on the sled and perched on a half-sitting ledge at his head. And the last thing of all was that to spare her he was willing to take the little weapon from her hand to use it in his last service. She

"I FEEL IT'S MY DUTY," SHE SAYS

Mrs. Hogue Says She Suffered Ten Years from Indigestion but Lanlac Restores Her.

Mrs. J. M. Hogue, R. D. No. 1, Edinboro, Pa., is still another woman who from a sense of duty to others puts aside her natural distaste for publicity and relates her experience with Lanlac. Mrs. Hogue is the wife of the well-known letter carrier of R. D. No. 1 who has been in the postal service for 20 years. Following is Mrs. Hogue's statement:

I feel I should be doing wrong if I didn't tell the facts about Lanlac overcoming my stomach trouble. I had suffered 10 years from indigestion and had about given up hope of ever getting any relief. When I began taking Lanlac I didn't know what it was to feel like I was eating my appetite was so poor. I just dreaded to eat because it meant misery afterwards.

I often had a pain in the small of my back so bad it was torture for me to move from one position to another and I had such violent dry spells I would have to be down until they passed off.

Lanlac had a remarkable effect upon me and I made a big change in my condition before I had finished the first bottle. I have taken five bottles now and the results are so wonderful I can hardly realize I am the same person who suffered from indigestion for so many years.

My troubles have all disappeared, even the headaches which once gave me so much distress. I have a splendid appetite and everything I eat agrees with me. I am gaining in weight and strength and I feel so well and strong now I bless Lanlac every day.

If people knew this medicine like I do they wouldn't have to suffer from indigestion that would have Lanlac for its family medicine.

Lanlac is sold in Connelville by all leading druggists. Adv.

tried to smile at him then crept over to his side.

The stunts was over. They knew what they had to face. She put the pistol in his steady hand.

His hand moved to his side and he sat waiting. The moments passed and the wolves seemed to be waiting too. In the last flicker of the little fire to die away. The last of her fuel was ignited and burning out, they were crouched and ready to spring if she should venture forth after more. The darkness closed down deeper and at last only a column of smoke remained.

It was nothing to be afraid of. The great gun, leader of the pack, a wolf that weighed nearly 100 pounds, began slowly and deliberately to set his muscles for the spring. It was the same as when the great bull elk comes to bat at the base of the cliffs, usually some one wolf of the great pack leader, wishing to count his followers of his might or else some full grown male animal in his strength will attack alone. However, this was a different game that the pack had ever faced. The leader chose to make the first step himself. It was true that those two had neither such horns nor iron-edged hoofs as the elk, yet they had eyes that chilled his heart when he tried to look at them. But one was lying almost prone and he felt as if he was out. Besides the pressure of starvation intensified ten times by their terrible realization of the wound a her life was upon the pack as never before. The muscles bunched at his throat.

But as Snowbird and her father gazed at him in fascinated horror, the great wolf suddenly smashed down in the snow. She was aware of its utter collapse actually before the sound of the life shot that penetrated it. He had been so conscious of it. It was a perfect shot at long range and for a long instant he lay motionless, refusing to accept the truth.

Then the rifle spoke again and a second wolf—a large male that crouched on the other side of the sled—fell kicking in the snow. The pack had leaped forward at the first death but they halted at the second. And then the rifle came to them with a third wolf suddenly opened its savage lips and screamed in the death agony.

Up to this time except for the report of the rifle, the attack had been made in utter silence. The reason was just that both breath and nervous force are needed to shout, and Dan falling could afford to waste neither of these vital forces. He had dropped to his knees and was firing again and again, his eyes were looking clear and straight along the barrel, his fingers without rest or tremor pressing again and again at the trigger, his hands holding the rifle as in a vise. Every nerve and muscle were completely in his command. The distance was far yet he shot with deadly amazing accuracy. The wolves were within a few feet of the girl and a fraction's waver in the gun barrel might have sped his bullet toward her.

"It's Dan falling," Lennox shouted.

they could not enter. Work always comes hard to the mountain people. They are sick of nature and Dan had no words to describe the stinging of his arms.

"We're made for each other," Snowbird declared. "I told her I'd stay with her. And at last I'm a man what I've been waiting for all these months."

He claimed it, and in a minute he was to all civil law, he collected fully 100 times in the next few minutes. But it didn't particularly matter and Snowbird didn't even turn her face. Max, he never forgot, you called it when you first came back too, she said.

So he had. It had completely filled his mind in the excitement of his fight with the wolf pack. And then while Lennox pretended to be a leap they sat breathless with happiness on the edge of the sled and watched the dawn come out.

This had never been so lovely in the sunlight. [THE END]

Smithfield Man Reports Seeing Machine With 20 Barrels Aboard, Special to The Courier.

SMITHFIELD, Feb. 8.—Ben Monroeth, living at the top of the Monticello hill, just at the eastern limits of the borough, on the state highway, says that on Friday night he heard a commotion on this hill and on going to investigate the cause, discovered lights and men working about a large truck that was stuck about half way up the hill. The men in charge of it were getting the chains on it, after which they made it up the hill where they took off the chains and put out all the lights and moved on south.

Ben asked them what they were loaded with. They made him no answer, but his investigation had revealed that it was loaded with booze, 20 barrels of it.
